

a word from... NATALIA Kills

Growing up in Bradford, West Yorkshire I always knew I wanted to be a star. I began my journey to stardom with acting gigs on shows like New Voices, All About Me and The Archers. Although I love acting, my true passion is music. During my time on both television and radio I began writing songs, some of which were featured in films and television shows including, Bring It On 4, Sleepover, Just My Luck and Entourage.

After finishing The Archers in 2003, I signed to the UK record company "Adventures in Music", releasing my debut single "Don't Play Nice" in March 2005 under my stage name of "Verbalicious". I'm not bragging, but the song charted at 11 in the UK. Pretty good for a new kid on the scene. I signed off after they went bankrupt but really I felt it lacked creative control for me.

In January 2008, I was signed by will.i.am to Interscope Records via his will.i.am Music Group imprint. It was for my demo EP Wommanequin, which I produced and wrote myself. Once signed to Interscope, I was brought into Cherrytree Records. They encouraged me to find a name that was more direct and descriptive, so I came up with the stage name, Natalia Kills.

I released my first single "Mirrors" in August 2010. The song charted in the top 10 in Germany. It was a great moment in my life. Perfectionist, my debut album, was released in Germany in April 2011.

I opened for Kelis' European All Hearts Tour in October 2010, as well as supporting Robyn on her Body Talk Tour in November. My second single, "Wonderland" was released on in April 2011 in Germany. The track was featured in the 2011 film Beastly starring Vanessa Hudgens which was extraordinary.

I'm excited to be supporting Ke$ha on the UK leg of her Get Sleazy Tour alongside LMFAO. It's going to be spectacular. In 2011 during the awards show Polish ESKA Music Awards, I received my first award in the category of International New Face. It was an incredibly humbling, momentous occasion.

With such great things happening in my career, I cannot wait to see what's out there for not only myself, but for my fans, as well. I couldn't possibly have done all that I have without the support and love I feel from my fanbase. Thank you all tremendously for helping make my dreams come true. Don't stop going after what you dream. If you can dream it, you can be it.

a word from...

NATALIA

Kills

Growing up in Bradford, West Yorkshire I always knew I wanted to be a star. I began my journey to stardom with acting gigs on shows like New Voices, All About Me and The Archers. Although I love acting, my true passion is music. During my time on both television and radio I began writing songs, some of which were featured in films and television shows including, Bring It On 4, Sleepover, Just My Luck and Entourage. After finishing The Archers in 2003, I signed to the UK record company "Adventures in Music", releasing my debut single "Don't Play Nice" in March 2005 under my stage name of "Verbalicious". I'm not bragging, but the song charted at 11 in the UK. Pretty good for a new kid on the scene. I signed off after they went bankrupt but really I felt it lacked creative control for me. In January 2008, I was signed by will.i.am to Interscope Records via his will.i.am Music Group imprint. It was for my demo EP Wommanequin, which I produced and wrote myself. Once signed to Interscope, I was brought into Cherrytree Records. They encouraged me to find a name that was more direct and descriptive, so I came up with the stage name, Natalia Kills. I released my first single "Mirrors" in August 2010. The song charted in the top 10 in Germany. It was a great moment in my life. Perfectionist, my debut album, was released in Germany in April 2011. I opened for Kelis' European All Hearts Tour in October 2010, as well as supporting Robyn on her Body Talk Tour in November. My second single, "Wonderland" was released on in April 2011 in Germany. The track was featured in the 2011 film Beastly starring Vanessa Hudgens which was extraordinary. I'm excited to be supporting Ke$ha on the UK leg of her Get Sleazy Tour alongside LMFAO. It's going to be spectacular. In 2011 during the awards show Polish ESKA Music Awards, I received my first award in the category of International New Face. It was an incredibly humbling, momentous occasion. With such great things happening in my career, I cannot wait to see what's out there for not only myself, but for my fans, as well. I couldn't possibly have done all that I have without the support and love I feel from my fanbase. Thank you all tremendously for helping make my dreams come true. Don't stop going after what you dream. If you can dream it, you can be it.

Growing up in Bradford, West Yorkshire I always knew I wanted to be a star. I began my journey to stardom with acting gigs on shows like New Voices, All About Me and The Archers. Although I love acting, my true passion is music. During my time on both television and radio I began writing songs, some of which were featured in films and television shows including, Bring It On 4, Sleepover, Just My Luck and Entourage. After finishing The Archers in 2003, I signed to the UK record company "Adventures in Music", releasing my debut single "Don't Play Nice" in March 2005 under my stage name of "Verbalicious". I'm not bragging, but the song charted at 11 in the UK. Pretty good for a new kid on the scene. I signed off after they went bankrupt but really I felt it lacked creative control for me. In January 2008, I was signed by will.i.am to Interscope Records via his will.i.am Music Group imprint. It was for my demo EP Wommanequin, which I produced and wrote myself. Once signed to Interscope, I was brought into Cherrytree Records. They encouraged me to find a name that was more direct and descriptive, so I came up with the stage name, Natalia Kills. I released my first single "Mirrors" in August 2010. The song charted in the top 10 in Germany. It was a great moment in my life. Perfectionist, my debut album, was released in Germany in April 2011. I opened for Kelis' European All Hearts Tour in October 2010, as well as supporting Robyn on her Body Talk Tour in November. My second single, "Wonderland" was released on in April 2011 in Germany. The track was featured in the 2011 film Beastly starring Vanessa Hudgens which was extraordinary. I'm excited to be supporting Ke$ha on the UK leg of her Get Sleazy Tour alongside LMFAO. It's going to be spectacular. In 2011 during the awards show Polish ESKA Music Awards, I received my first award in the category of International New Face. It was an incredibly humbling, momentous occasion. With such great things happening in my career, I cannot wait to see what's out there for not only myself, but for my fans, as well. I couldn't possibly have done all that I have without the support and love I feel from my fanbase. Thank you all tremendously for helping make my dreams come true. Don't stop going after what you dream. If you can dream it, you can be it.

a word from...

NATALIA
Kills